

Cards

Our stunning collection of blank, pre-creased cards are renowned for their impactful colours and luxurious feel.

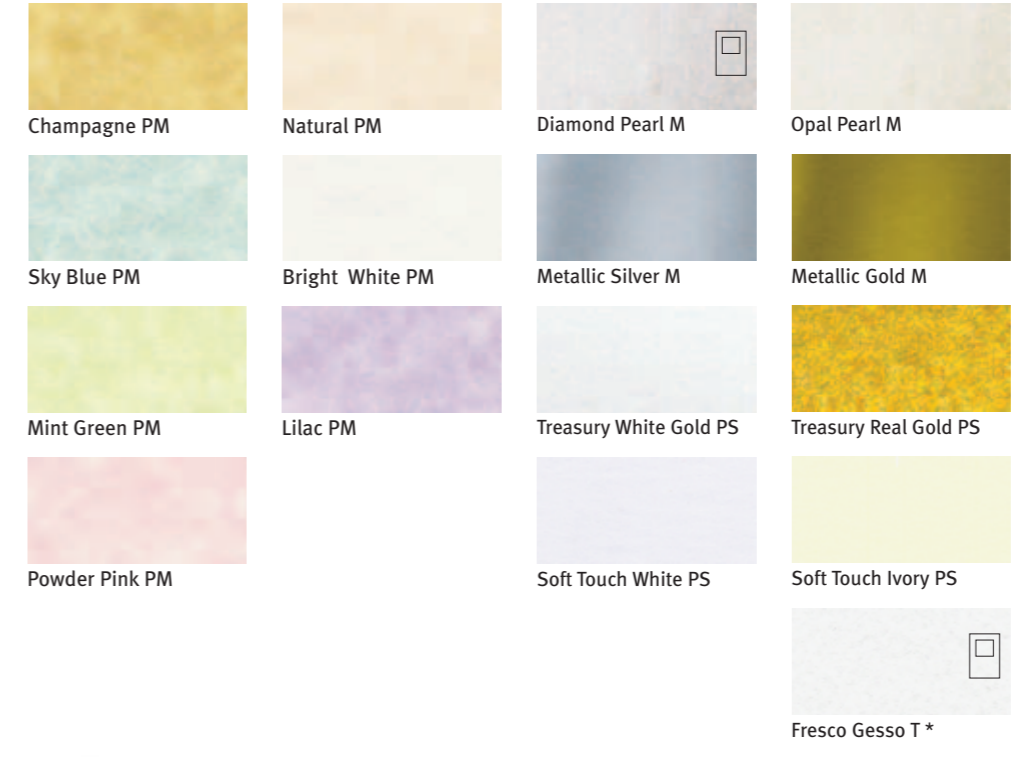

They are the perfect base for your card making imagination. Whites, delicate tints, rich colours, striking metallics – all our cards can be creatively transformed.

Choose a size and colour that complements the subject and make the paper part of the picture.

Newly introduced are aperture cards, a double-fold design, which lends itself to a number of uses.

Complementary insert papers are available for all our sizes of card. They are laser and inkjet compatible and give a professional look and special feel to your production. Insert papers allow the use of a card made out of some of our darker colours with dramatic effect.

The oldest known greeting card is a Valentine made in the 14th century and now in the British Museum.

Greeting cards were sent from the early 1800s when the elite and wealthy delivered them by hand. The practice gained mass popularity when the "Penny Post" was introduced in 1840 and the famous Penny Black stamp went on sale to the public.
